Report for week 10 (March 19-25)

Accomplishments of past week

- This week, we completed our first design document iteration. We also made updates to our website. The general look and feel of the website is a little different, plus, we caught some grammatical errors that we didn't see before. We also converted our reports to all be in "pdf" format for convenience for us and people that are looking at our site.

Plan for coming week

- In the coming week, we will make many changes to our project plan. We will also update the design document as we receive feedback on it, but, for now, we will focus on the project plan.

Pending issues

- (currently, none)
